Louis an even break in the do header with New York yesterday after-The "Invaders" captured the first game by a score of 6 to 1, while St. Louis won the second, 4 to 2. St. Louis's inability to do anything with Griffith's teasers lost them the first game. A lucky muff, followed by a little balleoning by Pitcher Wolfe, gave them the second their first peep at Barney Pelty, McAleer's

"Wee Willie" Sudhoff, who had been pitching in great form, as well as batting like a flend, in the second game, became dealy ill in the ninth inning after he had retired the first batter.

A few innings before "Wee Wille" had swallowed a chew of tobacco. The weed got a strangle hold on "Willie's" gastric juices and the little Teuton was forced to seek shelter in the clubhouse, where Doctor Max C. Starkloff attended him, and Willic came out all right.
When Sudhoff retired, Barney took up the white man's burden and did very well. He forced Conroy to pop up a little foul, caved in three of Willie Keeler's floating ribs, and sent Elberfeld to the bon's yard via the Friel and Anderson ambulance corps. Pretty good for a beginner.

THE SECOND GAME. After losing the first game, McAleer de-cided to take no chances with the second and ordered "Wee Wille" Suchoff to the firing line. Griffith sent forth his elephantine twirier. Wolfe, to mow down the locals. For a time Wolfe did nicely. Up to the eighth inning Wolfe looked like his mother's boy, but subsequently he took on a close resemblance to thirty cents.

KAHOE'S COACHING BLUNDER oaching was manifested by the locals in the second game, when Sudhoff was frown out at the plate. Had the game cupled the coacher's box at third, would for home, when a blind man could have felt the peril. McFarland had the ball long before Sudh.Af reached thipd, and he almost blushed with shame, it was so easy for him to sum Sudhoff down at the plats. "Mack," however, could not consult his personal feelings. He did what he was paid for doing-made a neat throw to the plate, and Beville showed Sudhoff the label on the ball before ne touched him with it.

Although St. Louis won the second game their playing was altogether too foolish to be classed as major league baseball. In the fifth inning their display of mental aberration was startling. A base on balls and two cean singles went for naught. Good baseball playing would have shown a different result. In the sixth inning a triple and double, with "none down," only notice them one run. Very much like the Saturday afternoon leagues.

SUDHOFF'S CLEVER TWIRLING.
Sudhoff's exhibition of pitching in the eighth inning with a single and Williams followed him with a double. Things looked blue for Sudhoff, but instead of casting about for the "guy rope" to the airship he wiped his forehead, and began to twirt some. Lefty Davis was forced out on an easy grounder, Friel to Anderson, and McFarland and Beville were sent back to their coop over the three strike route.

Two bases on balls and a double gave New York their first run in the second inning. An error by Sudhoff, a single and a long fly to Heidrick gave the "Invaders their second and last run in the third. Anderson's double and Wallace's triple gave to St. Louis their first run in the skith inning.

The First Game. Inability to hit Griffith's teasers, coupled with Powell's ineffectiveness and poor fielding by the Browns, lost the first game for St. Louis.

The game was too one-sided to be interesting for St. Louis fans. Their pets were soundly clouted by the visitors.

In the second inning Burkett gave a brief exhibition of how association football should be played. Davis sent one toward Burkett on a roll. "Jess" tackled the ball and started to dribble it about the field.

The sharp cries of his comrades brought Burkett to a realization of the fact that it was a bit too premature for football, and Jesse reluctantly tossed the ball to Wallace. Too bad. Burkett should be allowed some recreation.

Too bad. Burkett should be allowed some recreation.

John Powell, who twirled for the locals, received a sound tanning. In the seventh age of the game one of Johnnie's pet benders ran into Ganzel's bat and a collision resulted, which lodged the sphere anugly in the bleachers.

Burkett had a telescope out in left field, with which he tried to locate the sphere after it was hit, but the first intimation he had of its whereabouts was when he was ensulfed in a shower of splinters which resulted from the ball hitting the left-field boards. The extent of the damage to the bleachers in dollars and cents has not been estimated, but Ganzel's playful disposition cost the Browns two runs, Elberfeld trotting over the plate shead of Ganzel.

A single and double gave the "invaders" a start of one run in the second inning. A base on balls and a two-base hit netted St. Louis one tally in the same period. Their propitions start in the opener gave the "invaders" courage and they went after Powell in the second.

A single and 4wo errors gave them another run in this period. A double, sacrifice hit

I. W. Alexandrovsky, chamberlain of the Imperial Court of Russia and representa-tive of the Czar commissioned to visit St. Louis to prepare a statement of condition touching the matter of making an exhibit at the World's Fair, arrived yesterday, accompanied by Baron S. A. Korff and H. W. Romanoff, engineer.

From New York Mr. Alexandrovsky was accompanied by J. A. Ockerson, Chief of the World's Fair Bureau of Liberal Arts. The members of the Russian Commission registered at the Planters Hotel and Mr. Alexandrovsky denied himself to callers through the afternoon in order that he might take a rest after the long trip.

An informal dinner was given by President Francis to Mr. Alexandrovsky, Baron Korff and officials of the World's Fair last night. There were no speeches, but an informal and very exhaustive discussion of the Fair followed, in which the members of the Russian Commission expressed much pleasure in being able to visit St. Louis. indicating that in all probability Russia would make one of the most elaborate exhibits the country has ever attempted at a world's exposition

Russia has not made an appropriation for an exhibit, but the official invitation from this Government to the Government at St. Petersburg to participate in the Fair has been formally and officially accepted. It is the purpose of Mr. Alexandrovsky's visit here to investigate progress, make recommendations in the matter of a site and estimate the expenditures that will be
